

WHY ADVERTISE IN TODAY'S MACHINING WORLD

- A targeted audience built over 25 years, comprised of professionals in the Precision Machining Industry.
- 70% of TMW readers polled are owners or executives at machining companies.
- Thought provoking original articles and podcasts produced by writers who work in the precision machining industry. ARTICLES PEOPLE ACTUALLY READ.
- Complimentary promotion on our Industry News page and Social Media brings more customers to your company's website.
- Twice weekly email blasts with original editorial.

"Today's Machining World has an excellent database with quality leads. We've worked with several companies before, but we always notice an increase in registrations immediately following a TMW eblast."

Maribel Owen,
Premier Asset Recovery Group

Unlike other machining industry B2B publications, Today's Machining World's main writers, Lloyd and Noah Graff, work in the machining industry every day, selling used machine tools for their own business, Graff-Pinkert. Our audience—your buyers—get insights they can't find elsewhere, which keeps them coming back to us.

For more than 25 years, Today's Machining World has created a community in the machining industry by exploring it from a more human perspective.

We write about business trends and emerging technology, as you might expect. But sometimes we delve into politics, social issues, and current events. We're different, which is why our audience loves us.

"Lloyd Graff's blog brings us hope. He shows the humanity in our community. He tells us how we are so much more than just button pushers."

Mark Klecka, Concentric Partners, Citizen Distributor

EMAIL MARKETING

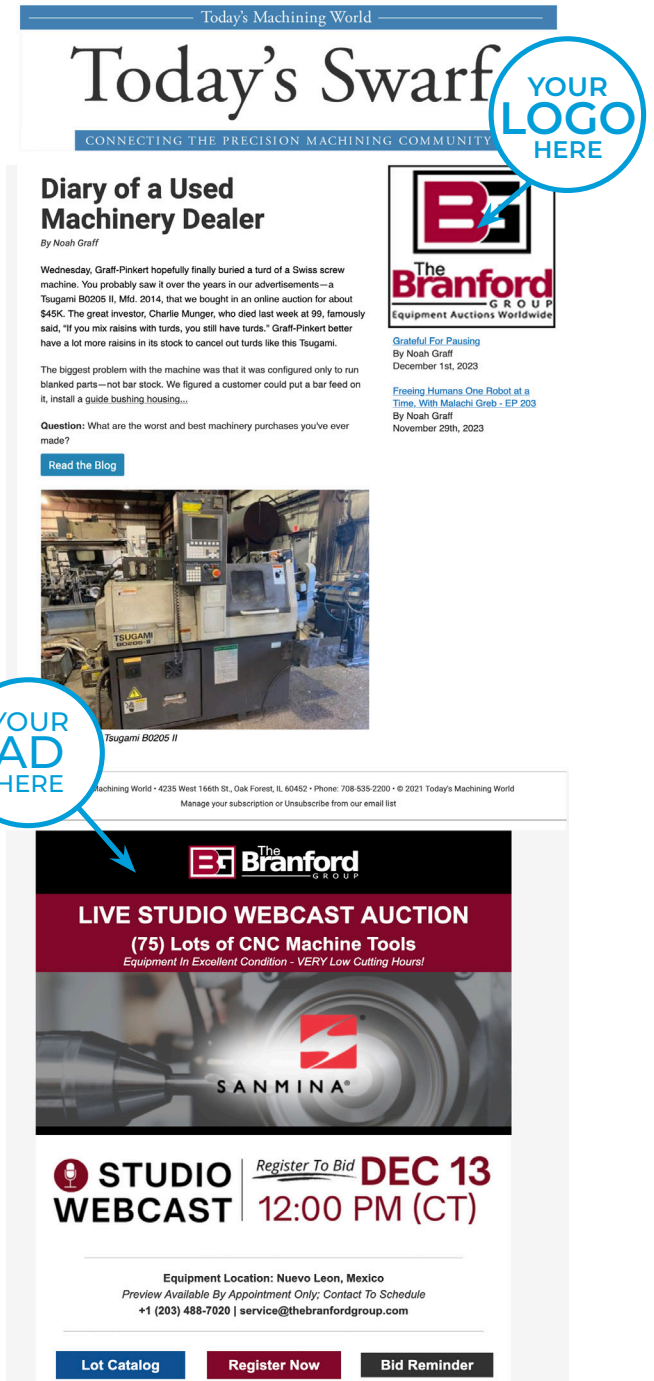

PROMOTE NEW PRODUCTS, AUCTIONS AND EVENTS

Emails blasts include your company's logo as a sponsor and generous ad space below our original editorial. The original editorial dramatically increases email open rates.

Email blasts are sent twice weekly to our list of 41,000+ contacts, averaging an 13% open rate. Advertisers often receive hundreds of clicks to their website from one email blast.

"We use TMW to market our auctions because it is always pertinent for the people in the industry. It pulls the kind of people we need to reach because the content in the blog and podcast is always unique and different than anything else."

Robert Levy, Levy and Associates LLC

The screenshot shows an email newsletter layout. At the top is the 'Today's Machining World' header with the tagline 'CONNECTING THE PRECISION MACHINING COMMUNITY'. A circular callout points to a 'YOUR LOGO HERE' area in the top right. The main content includes a blog post titled 'Diary of a Used Machinery Dealer' by Noah Graff, which discusses a Tsugami B0205 II machine. Below the text is a photo of the machine. A second callout points to a 'YOUR AD HERE' area. At the bottom is a large advertisement for 'The Branford Group' featuring a 'LIVE STUDIO WEBCAST AUCTION' of '(75) Lots of CNC Machine Tools' on December 13th at 12:00 PM (CT). The ad includes a 'SANMINA' logo and contact information for the auction.

"I use Today's Machining World whenever I have late model CNC equipment. It is my 'go to' place to advertise that kind of sale."

STAFF

LLOYD GRAFF

Owner/Writer

Lloyd Graff is a writer and business person who owns Today's Machining World and Graff-Pinkert & Company. He feels grateful every day to be able to pursue both passions. His curiosity and relentless search for knowledge and insight fuels both pursuits. The network developed over decades putting together machinery deals provides the raw material and resources to make his blog unique and provocative in the field of business writing.

NOAH GRAFF

Editor / Writer / Podcast Host

In 2005, Noah Graff started at Today's Machining World, where he has been an editor, writer, and podcaster. He has been selling used machine tools (treasure hunting) for his family company, Graff-Pinkert, since 2011. Lately, he concerns himself most with being a semi-new dad, creating serendipity daily, and being mindful.

Favorite food - Pizza. Favorite film - Ferris Bueller's Day Off.

RIDGELY DUNN

Managing Editor

Ridgely joined the Today's Machining World team in 2018 as the social media coordinator. In 2019, she accepted the role of Managing Editor. She also maintains a healthy freelance social media marketing business. When not networking with clients, she enjoys true crime podcasts, spending time with her rescue cats, and exploring Northern California wine country.
